BIOGRAPHY

Hache Collective is a group of musicians who engage in research and discussion through collaborative music creation and performance. Our music is based in improvisation and interdisciplinary work, with the ensemble functioning as a sound/art laboratory to test and workshop new approaches. The result is a kaleidoscopic rush of bizarre juxtapositions, sonic atmospheres, and oddly funky grooves that can shift gears at any moment.

We research musical, political, and cultural interests (and their intersections) through music creation. This research leads to a sounds of extended techniques, gestural motives and rhythmic murmurs.
